CREATE A STRONG RESUME

A resume is a brief, informative summary of your abilities, education, and experience. It should highlight your strongest assets and skills, and differentiate you from other candidates seeking similar positions. Although it alone will not get you a job or internship, a good resume is an important element toward obtaining an interview.

Tailor your resume to the type of position you are seeking. This does not mean that all of your work history must relate directly, but your resume should reflect the kind of skills the employer would value. Find additional guidance on resumes and cover letters, as well as resume samples, on the OCS website.

NEED HELP?

- Attend a Resume Workshop. Learn the nuts and bolts of getting started. See the OCS website for dates.
- Come to drop-ins. Every day from 1:00-4:00pm—get any career question answered and have someone look at your resume.
- Look for industry specific resume review clinics. Listed on the On-Campus Interviewing Calendar.

RESUME TIPS

RESUME LANGUAGE SHOULD BE:

- Specific rather than general
- Active rather than passive
- Written to express not impress
- Articulate rather than “flowery”
- Fact-based (quantify and qualify)
- Written for people who scan quickly

DON'T:

- Use personal pronouns (such as I)
- Abbreviate
- Use a narrative style
- Number or letter categories
- Use slang or colloquialisms
- Include a picture
- Include age or sex
- List references on resume
- Lead each line with a date

TOP 5 RESUME MISTAKES:

1. Spelling and grammar errors
2. Missing email and phone information
3. Using passive language instead of “action” words
4. Not well organized, concise, or easy to skim
5. Too long

DO:

- Be consistent in format and content
- Make it easy to read and follow
- Use spacing, underlining, italics, bold, and capitalization for emphasis
- List headings (such as Experience) in order of importance
- Within headings, list information in reverse chronological order (most recent first)
- Avoid information gaps such as a missing summer
- Be sure that your formatting translated properly if converted to a .pdf

WRITE AN EFFECTIVE COVER LETTER

Your cover letter is a writing sample and a part of the screening process. By putting your best foot forward, you can increase your chances of being interviewed. A good way to create a response-producing cover letter is to highlight your skills or experiences that are most applicable to the job or industry and to tailor the letter to the specific organization you are applying to.

	Your Street Address City, State, Zip Code
	Date of Letter
Use complete title and address.	Contact Name Contact Title Company Name Street Address City, State, Zip Code
Address to a particular person if possible.	Dear _____:
	Opening paragraph: Clearly state why you are writing, name the position or type of work you're exploring and, where applicable, how you heard about the person or organization.
Make the addressee want to read your resume. Be brief, but specific.	Middle paragraph(s): Explain why you are interested in this employer and your reasons for desiring this type of work. If you've had relevant school or work experience, be sure to point it out with one or two key examples; but do not reiterate your entire resume. Emphasize skills or abilities that relate to the job. Be sure to do this in a confident manner and remember that the reader will view your letter as an example of your writing skills.
Ask for a meeting and remember to follow up.	Closing paragraph: Reiterate your interest in the position, and your enthusiasm for using your skills to contribute to the work of the organization. Thank the reader for his/her consideration of your application, and end by stating that you look forward to the opportunity to further discuss the position.
Always sign letters.	Sincerely, Your name typed

Some general rules about letters:

- Address your letters to a specific person if you can.
- Tailor your letters to specific situations or organizations by doing research before writing your letters.
- Keep letters concise and factual, no more than a single page. Avoid flowery language.
- Give examples that support your skills and qualifications.
- Put yourself in the reader's shoes. What can you write that will convince the reader that you are ready and able to do the job?
- Remember that this is a marketing tool. Use lots of action words.
- Have someone proofread your letter.
- If converting to a .pdf, check that your formatting translated correctly.
- Reference skills or experiences from the job description and draw connections to your credentials.

Ms. Ellie Wells
Senior Manager
Wallaby Yogurt Company
110 Mezzetta Court
American Canyon, CA 94503

Dear Ms. Wells:

I am a senior at Harvard University and would like to be considered for the Manager in Training opportunity at the Wallaby Yogurt Company. I am very interested in the field of marketing and would welcome the opportunity to contribute my research and writing skills and experience to your growing business.

I am excited about Wallaby's commitment to organic, all-natural ingredients in its products. As a varsity field hockey player, I am very aware of the importance of healthy food as the foundation for a healthy life. Your emphasis on "learning by doing and leading by serving" is also consistent with the training I received as an athlete. Whether on the field learning new drills in the worst weather conditions or patiently working with a new team member, I am most fulfilled when contributing to the team effort.

At Harvard, my concentration is in History while also exploring coursework in Economics. My academic work has strengthened my research and writing skills as well as my understanding of the economics of business growth and development. Working with Harvard Undergraduate Women in Business (WIB) over the last two years gave me the experience and confidence to work in a dynamic, fast-paced organization where learning quickly and pitching in are instrumental to success. As a member of the Executive Committee, for example, I managed campus advertising campaigns that increased overall membership and attracted more than 500 students from 12 different schools to our annual Intercollegiate Fall Conference.

Thank you for your consideration. I very much look forward to the opportunity to speak with you in person about my interest in this position.

Sincerely,

Roberta Maddox

Mr. Joseph Turner
Save the Children Foundation
54 Wilton Road
Westport, Connecticut 06880

Dear Mr. Turner:

I am writing to express my interest in the Early Childhood Development Research Assistant internship with Save the Children. I am completing my Junior year at Harvard University and will graduate with a B.A. in Social Studies in May, 2015.

I believe strongly in the need for social change, especially as it affects children. The work that Save the Children delivers both advocating and taking action in countries throughout the world has set the standard for more than seventy-five years. It is your history and persistent search for solutions on behalf of children that makes me eager to join your team. Early childhood development is central to my academic interests. Next year I hope to complete my thesis on the influence of after-school programs on homework performance among children of immigrant Chinese families.

The opportunity to work with your ECD unit this summer will allow me to apply experience that I have gained in the classroom both as a student and a teacher. My concentration in Social Studies requires extensive research and writing across a broad spectrum of subjects. I am also adept at managing large sets of Excel data and preparing graphs, charts and other visuals to illustrate research findings. I spent two summers teaching in diverse classroom settings. The experience I gained in China taught me to manage my time carefully in order to complete the curriculum I had created. Managing a team of more than 120 volunteer teachers for an after-school program in Cambridge, Massachusetts required attention to detail around scheduling, training and orientation that will help me contribute to your project.

I understand that the internships with Save the Children are unpaid and I am prepared to seek grants or fellowships to support myself. Thank you for your time and consideration. I look forward to meeting with you to discuss the internship in more detail.

Sincerely,

Peter J. Lee

OCS Note about this sample:

Carol is interested in a scientific research position and includes technical skills and scientific jargon in her descriptions. If she were applying to non-lab or non-science positions, she would use lay terms to describe her accomplishments such as "Conducted basic scientific research designed to isolate the role that T cells play in cancerous tumor growth." She chose a visually appealing and balanced format highlighting science and additional experience to provide a complete picture of her skills.

Dr. Peter Walker
Cancer Center, Brigham and Women's Hospital
220 Longwood Avenue
Boston, MA 02115

Dear Dr. Walker:

I am writing to express my interest in the position of Clinical Research Assistant in the Cancer Center at Brigham and Women's Hospital. I am in my sophomore year at Harvard University, where I'm planning to concentrate in molecular and cellular biology. My professional interests lie in both lab research and clinical healthcare related to cancer, and I'm eager to make a positive impact while interacting with patients undergoing treatment.

This position particularly caught my attention as it involves clinical research trials, which would complement my previous activities conducting lab research and statistical analysis. My experience last summer at the Dana Farber Cancer Institute allowed me to work with Dr. Jane Hagopian, performing assays and experiments supporting tumor research. I learned valuable lab techniques and analysis, and the experience further solidified my interest in the area of cancer research. My research assistant role at the Miriam Hospital introduced me to data related to the effects of personality on heart risk, and I was able to use my analytical skills to organize and assess that data for future research efforts. These experiences have reinforced my strong interest in healthcare, and inspired my goal for a career in public health.

In addition to the skills developed in my research experiences, I also strengthened my oral and written communication and organizational skills through two campus positions at Harvard. My Advertising Representative and Office Assistant experiences have required me to successfully multi-task, work under pressure, prioritize, and solve logistical or organizational problems. These skills will be valuable in the Clinical Research Assistant role, enabling me to analyze and organize data while communicating and interacting with patients. I look forward to relating with patients on a personal level while effectively helping them benefit from the center's medical care services.

I have included my resume for your review. Thank you for your consideration and I look forward to the opportunity to speak with you about my candidacy in greater detail.

Sincerely,

Carol Sozaka-Diaz
